

Can You Help?

Happy Fish has teamed up with leading electronic waste management company Reclaim-it for a new project that could help us continue our important work, while protecting the environment. The project is designed to turn your empty laser & inkjet printer cartridges, as well as old mobile phones, into valuable funds for Happy Fish's chosen charity, Naomi House.

IT'S SO SIMPLE....

There are two options which will enable you to take part. The first option is very simple indeed, when you have replaced a cartridge, just call or email Happy Fish and we will come and collect your empty cartridge within 48 hours.

The second option will involve Happy Fish delivering a Collection Point Box, when the box is full, all you have to do is call Reclaim-it (number provided on the box) and they will organise the collection directly from you.

It really is that simple!

Once the collection has been made, the value of the items will be donated directly to Naomi House.

DID YOU KNOW?

During 2005, more than 310 million Inkjet Cartridges and more than 10 million Laser Cartridges were consumed in Western Europe - 85% of these cartridges end up in landfill.

Most phones end up sat in the drawer or placed in the bin to go to landfill, where they can cause harm to plants and wildlife.
